ALONG the M. & O.

EASILY reached from Corinth on the M. & O. by a short motor ride over a splendid road and affording an interesting side trip is Shiloh Military Park, Tennessee. Another interesting short side trip made from Corinth by Southern Railway is to Muscle Shoals, Alabama, a gigantic engineering feat started during the World War.

Citronelle, the world-famed resort, with springs of pure free-stone water lies in the heart of the long-leaf yellow pine district of southern Alabama, 33 miles north of Mobile, at an elevation of 360 feet above Mobile Bay.

Mobile, the second city in size in Alabama and the only seaport of the state, is a beautiful city enjoying an excellent climate the year round. Mobile is the gateway to the beautiful Gulf Coast Country, particularly the Mobile Bay region. Here will be found playgrounds of every kind, salt or fresh water surf for the bather, large variety of salt and fresh water "live ones" for the lover of rod and reel, ideal courses for the golfer, plenty of enjoyment for the hiker, motorist, bridge path enthusiast—and for those that desire only to rest and recreate, just the right atmosphere.

See the New Cochrane Bridge across Mobile Bay—10½ miles long. It provides convenient access to Baldwin County, Ala., and the eastern shore of Mobile Bay and is an important artery of commerce and industry.

Of equal significance in the growth, commerce and prosperity of Mobile is the Alabama State Docks, a gigantic ten million dollar project recently completed. It was designed to double the capacity of the port of Mobile and to provide manufacturing sites at shipside and railside.

Stanton Curtis, General Passenger Agent, Mobile & Ohio Railroad, St. Louis, Mo., will gladly tell you more about this beautiful region. Drop him a line.
